

ASSERTIVENESS PRINCIPLES

Dorothy I. Riddle, Ph.D., CMC
Service-Growth Consultants Inc.
riddle@servicegrowth.com

Assertiveness is an interactive skill set that keeps communication flowing and builds mutual respect.

Assertiveness is based 10% on verbal communication and 90% on non-verbal communication (tone of voice, fluency, eye contact, facial expression, posture, distance).

Assertiveness is comprised of how one initiates and how one responds:

Initiates

Direct communication

Honest; congruent

Take others' concerns and feelings into account

+

Responds

Active listening

Non-defensive

Don't personalize